Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 07 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold today, with showers in the west. Turning warmer tomorrow.

Today:
The morning starting cloudy with scattered showers in the west, while dry and sunny in the east. Cloud spreading across the region by the afternoon, but the showers ending. Still cold but slightly warmer than yesterday, with a chilly breeze. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tonight:
A cold start to the night with clear skies. Cloud and warmer air moving in will result in temperatures rising by dawn. Minimum temperature -3 deg C (27 deg F).

Thursday:
A cloudy start to the day, with the south coast becoming sunny through the afternoon. The odd shower or spot of drizzle possible. Continuing to get warmer than previous days. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Turning cold again for the next three days with overnight frost possible. Friday dry to start with rain in the afternoon and overnight. The weekend mostly dry with scattered showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.